

A MEMBER OF SMALL
LUXURY HOTELS OF THE WORLD

History and Recognitions

Old postcards of Monza dating back to the 1800 show the hotel, named at that time Eden Hotel Savoy, already attended by a distinguished clientele. Today, as you walk through the wood framed glass doors and enter the reception area, you feel you have entered a grand house. The oak panelling, the Persian rugs, the variety of antiques, and the numerous old leather-bound books filling the bookcases immediately give guests a sense of warmth and the exclusive charm of a private residence.

Since the Nardi family (hoteliers of note for three generations with a passion for excellence) took over the management of the hotel, in 1958, they have reached an incredible goal of setting Hotel de la Ville as one of the finest hotels in Italy. In 1995, it became member of "The Charming Hotels of the World", an independent luxury hotel group, then in 2007 it has been selected and affiliated to "Small Luxury Hotels in the World" one of the most prestigious hotel chains world wide. In 2000 it was honoured as the "Italian Best Business Hotel", in 2003 the professional guide, Gambero Rosso, assigned the Hotel de la Ville the "Three Golden Key" as one of the eleven best properties in Italy and in November 2007 received by the group Johansens Condé Nast the award: "the Most Excellent European Hotel for Service".

The award-winning hotel continues to thrive with its level of attentive and personal service as well as its high standards of presentation.
